The Playing Circle

The Playing Circle is not about inspiring places. It's about inspiring people. A place without people will never be inspiring to anyone. That's why The Playing Circle is always in search of new ways and places to play.

Cities have always had a magical attraction to artists, great minds and innovators. They are the sources of innovation and the places where creativity comes alive.

The Playing Circle creates atmospheres where people feel comfortable and at home. That's how our creativity comes to full bloom. It's the sheer contrast to your daily practice.

The Playing Circle provides inspiring meeting spaces on unique locations. We always have the ideal space for you.

THE VAUDEVILLE THEATRE

The Vaudeville Theatre

The Vaudeville Theatre was built in 1850 and is located on the famous Flower Market along the Singel canal. The building used to be an actual theater to make the upcoming vaudeville available to the Amsterdam folks.

A group of artists purchased the building in the 1950s. They added the large windows to create more daylight on the infamous grey Dutch days. Eventually, the light was considered to be so unique that the room became very popular amongst national and international artists and photographers.

Even today the venue still works great for creative meetings, trainings, and workshops, but also for intimate and exclusive dinners.
